STRIKE-BREAKING CREWS ARRIVE

Boys in Subway Hurl Bottles at Passing Train-First Signs of Violence Appear.

New York, March 7 .- The 5,000 or more employes of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, controlling the subway and the Manhattan elevated rallways, went on strike at 4 o'clock this morning, and for the first time Manhattan island is struggling with a labor disturbance affecting practically every citizen and extending in its effects to the remotest section of the five boroughs. The organization of the men was perfect and for the first few hours after the word had been passed practically not a wheel turned on the great system. But the company, too, was prepared, and a steamship load of strike breakers who had been held in the harbor for several days, were rushed to the lines, and by the time the first ripples of the human flood which daily pours down the length of Manhattan island had started, an irregular service was in operation in the subway. It was bettered little by little as the morning were on until before the rush hour, the net number of trains in operation had been increased sufficiently to care for a portion of the traffic. The service was irregular and no stiempt was made to run on schedule either as to time of speed, but nevertheless it carried thousands and in a measure helped to relieve the enormous ax on the surface lines.

Apparently the company's greatest effort was directed toward maintaining the subway. The elevated lines were a certain extent left to shift for hemselves and the service there divisions the service there divisions and the service there divisions and the service there divisions and the service there divisions. mselves, and the service there dur-the forenoon was so insufficient and irregular that it hardly deserved

h train in the underground carplatform of each was a policeman. In every station a pair of uniformed men patrolled the platform while at the big express stations small squads of police were stationed. Plain clothes men, were distributed about the system at what the authorities consider as dan-ger points. The strikers are aparpently relying on persuasion and have won over a large number of the new men. In spite of the inconvenience New Yorkers are taking the situation with a philosophic humor. Every car in barns was brought out and every one was packed during the morning nours. But the cars were for the masses. The few sought vehicles or were whirled down town in automobiles or private carriages. Never in history has the city seen such a crush power vehicles or of private turnouts as this morning. Lower Broadway into which the stream was turned bey Grace church, resembled the park yes on a fine morning. Around city square automobiles were ranked ke a park of artillery, their occupants oreferring to walk the rest of the distance rather than creep along the constantly blockaded streets. So great was the congestion from this contin-ual inrush of traffic into the nar-row street, that the police mounted and on foot, had a hard time to keep it untangled. Probably one-million people are employed, or have their places of business below Ninth street, so with the interruption of the rapid transit system, business was slow in getting started this morning. Women shopstarted this morning. Women shop-pers hesitated to make use of the subway or elevated. This mean't a poor day's business and although difficult to estimate, the monetary loss to store-keepers must be represented by large numbers. An incident of the morning was a rumor that troops had been called out to preserve order, but this was found to have originated in the presence of a marching body of mill-like homeward bound for the presence of the control of th tis homeward bound from the inaugu-

As each train reached the uptown terminal, the leaders called the men out from the trains and sent them over to the steamer Northam for their baggage. The men went then to the strikers' headquarters and told the union men of what they had done. Man-iattan was unchanged, while Metroolitan street railway and the securi-es were slightly higher. Soon after the opening, however, all these stocks became heavier and rather dull.

President Machen of the Amalgamated Association of Electric & Street Railway Employes of America, who came here yesterday from the west, sold today that the strike of elevated and subway employes in this city had not been sanctioned by the national organization and that the local body could not look to the national association for financial support.

THE STRIKE IS ON.

A strike of 5,000 employes of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, Interborough Rapid Transit company, operating the subway and Manhattan Railroad elevated lines, in this city, which took effect at 4 o'clock this morning, was one of the most complete in its early stages of any strike in the history of the city. After the hour set no train was started with union crews and the latter quit each train when the terminals of the various lines had been reached. various lines had been reached.

REFUSED TO DESERT.

One union motorman on the Ninth avenue elevated line refused to desert with the remainder of the crew and so far his was the only defection reported. Many of the ticket sellers remained at their posts because they are under bond, but posted signs announcing the bond, but posted signs announcing the strike and refused to sell tickets. Crews of strike breakers were hurried to the northern, ends of the lines, but not many were found who undertood the manipulation of air brakes. In the subway crews were assorted for a few trains which were run up and down over short stretches in an effort to teach new men the method of operation. Similar efforts were made on the elevated railroad. No violence was reported at any point up to 8 o'clock. A few boys entered the Times square station of the subway and hurled bottles at a passing train. Many windows were broken but no policemen were in sight. Pickets from the strikers' ranks were posted everywhere outside the stations. were posted everywhere outside the sta-tions and warned persons who attempt-ed to enter that the strike was on and declared that "it was dangerous to ride on the trains." They asserted that safety devices and emergency brake cords had been removed. Free access was offered to all per-sons who wished to ride so far as the officials of the company were conwere posted everywhere outside the sta-officials of the company were con-cerned. In fact few of the ticket booths were occupied and passengers desiring to ride were admitted at their own risk. Surface liens reaped a harvest. Hundreds of thousands of persons accustomed to being whirled down town on express trains, and who knew nothing of the strike until they reached the streets after breakfast, hustled for the nearest car line. On the upper East Side long before 7 o'clock every car was jammed to its utmost capacity and in many streets passengers could be seen riding on the roofs. Similar conditions prevailed in every section of the city. On the upper West Side and in Harlem morning newspapers were not delivered as usual. TRAINS RUN FREQUENTLY.

After 8 o'clock conditions on the subway were greatly improved. Trains were operated frequently and without interference, confusion or delay. Some express trains were run. The trains were operated by men who appeared to have been well trained. The elevated service was practically tied up.

During the early morning down-town rush train service in the subway was

During the early morning down-town rush train service in the subway was almost if not quite equal to the demand. This was due to the fact that many thousands of persons who commonly traveled by the subway made no attempt to do so today. About one-fifth as many trains as usual were run and they were operated by non-union men generally under the instruction of a skilled employe such as starter, yard-master or train dispatcher. No atmaster or train dispatcher. No at-tempt was made either to sell or to col-lect tickets and the public enjoyed free way trains managed to get the working people to the stores and offices, though frequently delayed. A great number of cabs and private carriages were used in the downtown section. James Farley, who had charge of the non-union men brought to this city to operate the trains took an active part in directing their work.

Many business houses found themselves today with short handed forces as a result of the inability of employes down town to business from to get down

FIRST SHOW OF VIOLENCE.

The first show of open violence against the strike breakers was made at the One Hundred and Tenth street taken to a hospital with a badly in-jured arm. A union man had boarded the train well up the fine and con-tinued to harass the non-union guard until, as the train was nearing One Hundred and Tenth street the two men came to blows. When the train came to a stop others joined in the fray and the police were obliged to use their clubs before the fight was stopped. No arrests were made.

CAUSE OF STRIKE.

Today's strike was the outgrowth of Today's strike was the outgrowth of agitation and negotiations which began simultaneously with the opening of the new subway last fall. Even before the operation of the big tube was begun a protest was made by the motormen of the elevated lines when it was announced that the men who were to operate the mechanism of the subway trains would be paid only $3. subway trains would be paid only $3 for a day of 10 hours. The dispute arising therefrom was settled by a compromise between the men and their employers, but threats of other trouble from various causes have followed at frequent intervals since. Hardly a month has passed in which contention between the Interborough and its employes has not demanded fre-quent conferences between the union eaders and General Manager Hedley and Vice President Bryan, of the company, and on several occasions they became so serious that August Belmont, president of the Interborough company, was called in. Up to a few weeks ago, however, a settlement was effected in every instance. At that time when an effort was begun by the union to have renewed an agreement which was to expire March 1, the real trouble which resulted in the crisis today began. The employes declare that the linterborough officials at that time agreed upon a certain schedule to replace the one which was to expire last Wednesday.

SAY PROMISE WAS VIOLATED. When Wednesday came, however, the union officials declare that the promise of the officials of the company was violated; that the new schedule was not accepted, and that Gen. Manager Hedley declined to give any satisfaction to the committee of the union which called upon him. They say, also, that when an effort was made to reach President Belmont, in connection with the al-leged failure to substitute the new schedule, it was found that Mr. Belmont was out of the city to remain in-definitely, and that he could not be reached. Even in the face of all this the union officials declared as late as yesterday that there was little talk of taking extreme measures. The enployes believed up to yesterday that strike might be averted if they reach Mr. Belmont, who is president of the National Civic Federation.

ORDER TO RETREAT HAS BEEN GIVEN

By Kuropatkin, it is Rumored, And He is Gradually Withdrawing His Forces,

JAPANESE USING SIEGE CUNS.

Are Causing Terrible Punishment and Nothing Can Stand Up Against Them.

St. Petersburg, March 7, 1:59 p. m. -All hope that Gen. Kuropatkin will be able to turn defeat into victory is rapidly vanishing. The position of the Russian army has been growing increasingly desperate during the last 24 hours. The gravest danger is from the Japanese left which has been pushed northward on the Sinminitin road to a point eight miles northwest of Mukden, where it has joined a flanking column from the west around the village of Tatchekiao, which is located at this point. The battle raged with terrible bitterness throughout yesterday with all the reserves hurried to the scene to bloce the stroke at the Russian line of communications.

At the same time encouraged by the progress of the main turning move-ment west, Gen. Kuroki again pressed forward from the east yesterday against Gen. Linevitch, forcing the Rusians to give ground. It is rumored that Kuropatkin has dready given the order to retreat and that he is gradually withdrawing forces from the center, but experts are inclined to believe that he has waited too long, that he must fight it out in his present position and that it is impossible to extricate more than the remnants of his army.

At the war office it is said that the

At the war office it is said that the Japanese siege guns from Port Arthur with a range of eight miles are causing terrible punishment. Nothing can stand against them.

The only news received at the war office up to this hour is that the battle was resumed at daylight this morning at Tatchekiao. During the night both sides brought up additional guns and at daybreak a perfect hail of artillery projects filled the air. If the Japanese crush Gen. Kaulbars today the Russian retreat will be cut off and Kuropatkin's army will be almost surrounded. There is the greatest fear that telegraphic communication may be cut at any moment. The public is pessimistic as usual. The Liberals especially, look forward to the complete defeat of Kuropatkin's army with equanimity on the theory that a Russian victory would stiffen the beak sian victory would stiffen the back-bone of the reactionaries.

According to the Liberal view the more the government is embarrassed the more it will be obliged to yield. UNFAVORABLE FOR RUSSIANS. Gen. Rennenkamper's Headquarters, Oubenpuza, Monday 6th, midnight.— Events took an unfavorable turn for the Russians this evening. After a day of marked succession of deter-mined attacks the Japanese ousted the Russians from an important position on the left center of the eastern army. The Japanese are also pressing the right center hard. The Russians have been ordered to retake the posi-tion of any cost. There were heavy losses today on both sides. GOES BADLY WITH KUROPATKIN.

St. Petersburg, March 7, 7:10 p. m.— A very specific report is circulating in exceedingly well informed quarters that the day has gone badly with Gen. Kur-opatkin, that the Russian center is broken and that 13 heavy siege guns have been captured by the Japanese. If this is true, it is pointed out here, the battle is lost.

RUSSIANS CONCENTRATING Tokio, March 7.—The greatest concentration of the Russians defending Fushun seems to be along the line from Tieta to Machuntan, Gen. Arguments by Attorneys in Peabody- Adams Contest Have Been Concluded.

ASSEMBLY WILL DISCUSS CASE

Joint Convention Will Not Take a Vote Until Report is Made on Morgan's Charges.

Denver, March 7 .- Arguments by attorneys in the Peabody-Adams gubernatorial contest were concluded today. Former Gov. Charles S. Thomas made the final address on behalf of Gov. Alva Adams, speaking for three hours, and Adams, speaking for three hours, and John M. Waldron closed for the contestor, James H. Peabody, with a two hours' speech.

Beginning tomorrow morning the members of the general assembly will discuss the contest under a rule limiting speeches to 10 minutes for each member. There are 97 members and it is expected the debate will continue two or three days. The ballot which decides whether Adams or Peabody shall occupy the governor's chair during the remainder of the bi-ennial term ending in January, 1967, will probably he reached on Friday or Saturday next. The joint convention has indicated a purpose, however, not to take a vote until a report is received from the committee appointed to investigate bribery charges on the statement of Senator Richard W. Morgan that James M. Herbert, vice president of the Colorado & Southern raiiroad, and Daniel Sullivan, postmaster at Cripple Creek, had van, postmaster at Cripple Creek, had offered him $1,500 to vote for Adams and that Herbert had given him $750 of this that Herbert had given him $700 of this amount. The committee met last night to open its investigation but adjourned until tonight without hearing any testimony on account of the absence of the senator who made the bribery

Former Gov. Thomas' speech was a logical presentation of the case of the contestee punctuated with scathing sarcasm and pointed wit.

"Where are your cap and bells this morning," asked Atty. Waldron, when one of Mr. Thomas' jibes penetrated a little further than others had. "If I had known you wanted them I would have brought them," replied Mr. Thomas, "for they represent the only character you have not assumed on this floor."

Mr. Thomas opened his speech with an argument against the proposition promulgated by Atty. Waldron that the contest was one to be decided on said Mr. Thomas, "the contestee could come into court and ask for a nonsuit, and it would be granted for the contestor has made no case."

securing a fair election.

"If the experts were good for anything they could separate the good from the bad ballots and the good bal-lots should be counted," said counsel in his argument against throwing out the entire vote of the precincts where al-leged frauds existed. In regard to the failure of election officials to administer an oath to illiterates, the former governor said if this was cause for throwing out precincts in Denver, then the precincts in Huer-fano which were before the contest committee must be thrown out, as ilwould increase Gov. Adams' plurality

Taking up the subjects of hand writ-ing experts, Mr. Thomas read decisions the supreme courts of a number of states to the effect that handwriting expert testimony was of the lowest order and should never be accepted with-out corroborative evidence.

"So long as the great corporations contribute to the campaign funds of both political parties you are going to have fraud and corruption at the polls," said Mr. Thomas, in closing his remarks at the morning session.

TROUBLE BREWING IN HUNGARY.

Conflict Between the Crown and Hungarians Over Military Retorms Probable.

LANGUAGE QUESTION INVOLVED

Emperor Declares That He Cannot Permit Existing Conditions of Army to be Altered.

Vienna, March 7 .- Judging by reports received from Budapest, a conflict between the crown and the Hungarian nation appears possible and even probable. The contending interests cannot agree on the matter of military reforms and particularly on the use of the Hungarian tongue in the Hungarian army as the language of command, Hungarians declaring that this reform must be instituted and the emperor that it is impossible. Neither side shows signs of weakening and the question of language of command is more pregnant of danger today than ever be-Six out of the 16 Hungarian political leaders have already been received in audience by the emperor. They and others who were received in audience before these six were called to Vienna, have made it known that the emperor declares that the military demands of the united opposition parties are inadmissible, characterizing them as meddling and an intrusion upon his prerogatives. In these interviews the emperor spoke feelingly and with deep conviction of the necessity of an undivided and strong army always ready for hattie. He quoted examples from for battle. He quoted examples from history in support of his statements, and declared decisively that reorganization of the army was absolutely a personal matter with himself. He said personal matter with himself. He said he could not permit existing conditions in the army to be altered, and asked the politicians with whom he conferred to use their efforts to persuade the united opposition to exclude the demands for military reform from their program. This the opposition shows no signs of wanting to do; on the contrary, the parties composing the opposition insist that the decision as to what language shall be used in the Hungarian army is not the exclusive right of the crown, and say that the emperor's attitude and declarations remove even the expectation that his majesty, event. the expectation that his majesty, eventually will respect the wishes of the Hungarian people regarding the proposed military reforms. One side or the other must make radical concessions, but both show signs of being very stiff-necked. It is a contest for principles which on the one side the emperor declares he will not recognize and which on the other side the opposition insists shall be conceded. As a result of the serious outlook arising from the knowledge of the emperor's declaration the interest concerning the outcome of the remaining audiences with Hungarian political leaders is disappearing among the Hungarians, who are heatedly discussing eventualities.

These questions of military reform and the language of command reached an acute stage in 1903, when Count Tisza was made premier. At that time Em-peror Francis Joseph made at the last peror Francis Joseph made at the lan-moment certain concessions to the Hun-garians, which even yet are adversely criticised in Austria, and then the oppo-sition was actually the minority, while now it is the majority.

QUEER FINANCIAL TANGLE.

Prof. Cummings Clears Up Most Perfectly the Cloud That Had Been Created Regarding Small Amount.

One of the most interesting sessions of the Utah-St. Louis exposition commission yet held was the one that took place in Judge Morse's court room this morning. The principal witness was Director General Whitaker whom Atty. H. A. Smith pursued as vigorously as though he were on trial for a felony instead of simply testifying as to the facts and conditions under his administration. It must be said that the gentleman did not make the best possible witness for himself or that he cleared himself of charges, by innuendo, that he apparently might have been able to do. The most damaging point that was not cleared up was the question of the ownership of $600. Witness declared that he was unable to say whether it belonged to the state or to himself. His accounts said the money was his own. In the event that state ownership were established he would willingly refund it, otherwise he would willingly return it, otherwise would retain it.

During the morning Prof. Cummings, who was in charge of the educational exhibits of Utah, went on the stand, at his own request and cleared up entirely the doubt that had been raised as to the disposition of a certain $22. MR. WHITAKER RECALLED.

MR. WHITAKER RECALLED.

The hearing was resumed with Director General S. T. Whitaker on the stand. The witness was shown the Lange & Bergstrom building contract, and asked why the amount thereof had been enlarged in the sum of $2,391. "By whose authority were you acting in this matter?" was asked the witness. "The sum of $220 of this amount was used on the verandas."

Did you and Mr. Sherman extend the contract price to the amount of $2,391?"

"There is a charge here of $220 for wiring the state house. Is that right?"
"Yes, sir, that was the work done on the veranda."

"Will you produce any instrument giving you such authority?"

The witness was here handed a bunch of correspondence, and after examining the papers, replied: "There is none of that correspondence here at all."

"Was there ever such correspondence between yourself and the board on these matters?"

"Yes, sir; there was some correspondence on this subject."

"Why was this expense incurred?" THERE WAS A STRIKE, "During the time of preparation there was a strike on and I was forced to hire additional men in order to push the thing through. These men I paid out of my own pocket and in the hurry I neglected to make out a voucher for the amount. Later I concluded to attach it to Mr. Shisler's voucher and made a notation to this effect."

"Who did the work?"

"Different parties, whose names I am not able to give. They were transient workmen, hired by the day, and were paid in money when their work was completed.

"Because I asked him to. It was the only way I could get my money back."
"Why didn't you present a voucher for the amount to the commission and get your check? "Because ther there was some question "Because there was some question whether I would get the money." "You were afraid that the commission
